Trends 2010

Expert travel lifestyle manager Rob Arrow says that this year travellers looking to get more for their money are venturing just outside the eurozone. Countries such as Croatia, Egypt, Tunisia and Turkey are proving very popular and offer great value if you're spending pounds.

He continues: 'Also on the up is Marrakesh. It's within four hours' flight time from London, and is seeing something of a resurgence. I put this down to the magnitude of high-end properties opening or undergoing redesigns.

'The effect has been to draw international attention for the city, which is beautiful in its own right. I love it there.'
